The water level is completely flush with the pool surround, creating the sensation of freedom and the optical illusion of a larger overall surface area. The pool with overflow also prevents the formation of dirt on the edges. The modular production with a combination of straight and curvy lines, varying water depths and various other extras, allows extremely personalized creations that perfectly satisfy your wishes. We are pleased to assist you through every stage from planning to installation, drawing upon our many years of experience.

LET IT

GO

There are many different ways to cover a pool. The integrated under-floor pool cover is definitely one of the most practical, uncomplicated and cleanest – so discreet in fact, that it is hardly even noticeable when open. Floating pool covers guarantee safety for children and animals. Safety and reliable protection against pool debris are the major advantages. In addition, pool covers offer optimal insulation with a noticeable saving in heating costs as the warmth of the water is efficiently trapped. Positive side effect: The swimming season is extended. The cover can be opened and closed by means of a modern electric motor. Almost all pools in the DC THATCH range, with the exception of our free-style models, can be fitted with this extremely elegant and practical solution.

NOT JUST A BORDER

An attractive surrounding edge gives your pool the perfect finishing touch. With all DC THATCH pools, the impeccably crafted pool surround can be completely tailored to suit your needs. Popular materials that are easy to maintain include stone slabs, tiles or wood, which can be fitted either below or above the pool surround, creating the most suitable and elegant frame for your pool. The overflow channel also can be covered with either a classic plastic grid or stone slabs.

Exclusively from DC THATCH
The "Back" roller box is built-in to the back of the pool wall and is almost invisible, leaving the entire length of the pool free. The vertical screen is in the colour of the pool and can be either swivel-mounted or fully detachable. It is available for all models with the exception of free-style pools.

"Cover Light" roller box. It is installed directly inside the pool and can be disguised with an additional cover on request, which can also serve as a comfortable, practical seat. This installation method is available for all pool models with the exception of our free-style pools.

This roller box is built-in permanently behind the swimming area and fitted with a weight-bearing cover in polyester in the colour of the pool.
